Downloading Software from DreamSpark using Mac OS X

DreamSpark is a service provided by the School of LIS in conjunction with the MSDN Academic Alliance. It provides Microsoft software at no cost to our students for educational use.

If you are unsure which to choose, refer to this Microsoft Windows support article
When the download is complete, you will have an .iso file (also referred to as a disk image). This file will need to be burned to a blank recordable disc. Insert your blank recordable disc now, and proceed to the next page of instructions.

If your Mac does not have a disc drive you will follow a different process going forward:

You will need to create a bootable flash drive (using a USB with at least 4 GB of space). If there is data on the USB, it will be deleted during this process. Therefore, be sure to back up your data before proceeding. Please refer to this Knowledge Base article by Indiana University for instructions on how to write an .iso file to a USB Drive (located at the bottom of the page).

If you have any questions please contact SLIS Tech: slistech@wayne.edu or 313-473-7207
Select Open Disk Utility
Inside Disk Utility, select the blank recordable disc (SuperDrive)
Select Burn
Select the .iso file and then, select Burn
Select Burn.

Upon completion, you will have a disc containing the downloaded software that may now be installed.
